COMMISSIONERS COMMENTS PUBLIC
COMMENTS
ADJOURNMENT

While these additions to Columbia County's Big Dig add up to $550,735, confidential sources have told the Observer that a pending law suit is threatened to be over $1,000,000. Public Works Director Kevin Kirby is purportedly negotiating for the County.

The County 5 are at it again. An electronic search of 2 years of county documents in the Observer data base has not turned up any reference to the North Florida Water Working Group or the NFWWG. Once again, no amounts are on the County 5's agenda. This back room deal is not being brought to you tonight. The cost: $80,000 plus a laundry list of expenses. Notice the dates.

Note: Neither of the above items have dollar amounts in the agenda that the majority of the public reads. This is the standard operating procedure of the legendary Columbia County 5. The present group is below.
